

Food Service

Enhance Your Image

We understand the unique challenges facing the food service industry. You strive to contain costs and operate a high-class, environmentally friendly building, while maintaining a clean, safe atmosphere that reduces cross contamination. Solaris Paper® towel and tissue products are made with Rapidly Renewable Fiber (RRF), which makes our products whiter, brighter and softer – and helps your facility meet the requirements of the USGBC's LEED® Standards.*

Solaris Paper® Towel and Tissue Products and Advanced Dispensing Systems

Better Performing Products

Our LoCor® jumbo bath tissue offers the same pleasing look of a standard roll, but with four times the sheets. For you, that means fewer run-outs, lower labor costs and increased cost savings. Our touchless towel and tissue dispensing systems feature innovative designs to enhance cleanliness and improve hygiene. Our towel and tissue systems help prevent cross-contamination, which can cause the spread of disease. These high-capacity dispensing systems provide a more sanitary environment for staff, customers and visitors, and meet ADA requirements.

Increase Productivity and Customer Satisfaction

Solaris Paper® is firmly committed to sustainability and environmental responsibility. As a leader in the Zero Deforestation movement, our innovative RRF based product system options support and promote that commitment to purchasing and procurement professionals, as well. Creating a more efficient, hygienic and greener restaurant has never been easier. Studies now link healthy food service facilities to reduced staff turnover, sick days and absenteeism. In turn, that means higher productivity from staff, and a healthier and safer environment for customers.
